Bordering Cockerthwaite Real Ale Guide

CAMPAIGN FOR REAL ALE

The area bordering Cockerthwaite is an interesting mixture of rural villages and hamlets. Some beside picturesque lakes or rivers, others majestically overlooked by Lakeland fells. To the north lie the villages of Gilcrux, a farming village with a Norman origin church, Tallentire which means "land (or worlds) end", and also Dovenby, the base for an international rally team. To the west is Great Broughton, a rambling village beside the River Derwent. To the south is Deanscales, a hamlet lying between the Pardshaw and Eaglesfield crags. Beyond is Dean, a small village with a church with interesting gargoyles and the base of an ancient cross. On the B5289 south from Cockerthwaite you can take a turning (still the B5289), and head for Buttermere, a village set in dramatic fell surroundings and taking its name from the nearby lake (approximately two miles), or continue on the C2030 to Loweswater, a scattered community between Crummock Water and Loweswater, with magnificent views down to the Buttermere valley. To the east of Cockerthwaite is Embleton, a scattered village overlooking the smaller fells that line the south side of the A66 (which was the route of the old Penrith to Workington railway). Beyond is Bassenthwaite Lake (the area at the western end of the lake), and Bassenthwaite (Village), a small hamlet on the northern side of the lake and below Skiddaw (3,054 ft). All very scenic and interesting. This Guide has been produced by members of the West Cumbria Branch of CAMRA (The Campaign for Real Ale) to promote the excellent real ale premises that we enjoy in West Cumbria.
